Ypsilon® FLOW½

Ypsilon® Flow½ is an ankle-foot orthosis (AFO) designed to manage milder cases of foot drop. It is developed for active users with high demands on function, mobility and a natural gait pattern.

The low heel height (7 mm) makes the orthosis easy to accommodate in a variety of shoes. The low curvature at the front of the footplate provides more clearance in the shoe toe box and contributes to a smooth, natural rollover.
The unique design of Ypsilon® Flow½ allows for a greater range of motion in the footplate, promoting a smoother rollover and providing dynamic toe-off assist, while allowing the user's functional muscles to remain more active. The Y-shaped proximal fixation points help reduce pressure over sensitive areas along the lower leg.

The Flow series is designed to provide increased flexibility and a smoother transition throughout the gait cycle, making Ypsilon® Flow½ a functional choice for people with foot drop who want to maintain an active lifestyle.
Ypsilon® Flow½ is supplied with a complete strap set.
